

Cleanse

There is an Art of Raw Chocolate consumption. Here we explore how to eat chocolate in a sustainable and balanced way. We incorporate proper food combining and cleansing to eat and drink raw chocolate for longevity and in healthy respect to our organs.

It's a no-brainer for most people that they need to change the oil in their car. So why are we not taught in school that we must cleanse our organs? It's crazy, really, that this stuff isn't common knowledge. I guess it's true what they say, "Common knowledge ain't so common."

This chapter is focused on cleansing all your major organs so that you may live a long and healthy life, filled with plenty of Raw Chocolate.

Is Chocolate Cleansing?

The thought of a chocolate cleanse may seem counterintuitive to some. Is chocolate cleansing? Not if you're eating poor quality toxic chocolate made with artificial, rancid hydrogenated oils, bad sugars and additives.

While excessive chocolate consumption can make digestion difficult, the high magnesium content can relax the muscles and be quite cleansing for the bowels. Really, it depends on what kind of chocolate you are consuming and in what form.

The Raw Chocolate Cleanse incorporates a more balanced approach to eating raw chocolate, while nurturing our organs and overall health. It also could be considered a transition diet.

Most importantly, while helping people (including myself) transition to a more whole-live, raw-foods diet, I've found we are way more likely to embrace practices like cleansing, if it's tasty and fun!

Creamy, chocolatey, colon-cleansing cacao creation!

Health experts today who have moved beyond the limitations of dogmatic diets will agree; practices that you will actually do are far more beneficial to your body than the perfect health regimen that you would never do ... at least for now.

Later, if you are open to it, these simple, and sometimes indulgent cleansing practices can lead the way to even deeper work.

In this chapter I'll share with you how I managed to clear Candida and transition into an effective cleanse with Raw Chocolate. We achieve this through one part Alchemy (Protocol and Recipes) and one part Exercising Temperance (Discernment and Moderation)

*Consult your physician before starting any cleanse as you may have a serious health condition that these procedure may seem to worsen as your body dumps toxins.

Food Combining and Cacao

Learn the rules so you know how to break them properly.

One of the hardest thing our body does is digest food. Just imagine putting food anywhere else. It begins to compost, rot and smell terrible. We cram food down our human garbage disposal

Honor Your Organs

Digesting Foods is the hardest thing your body has to do.

without thinking, expecting a miracle. Our goal to get clear about proper food combining that will work best for your body type and your goals. Once you've got the ground rules, you'll see what you can successfully get away with. It's important to not get too caught up in food combining. However, it can be extremely effective in helping people with chronic illness, digestive problems or who just want to lose weight.

I was 16 when I learned about the Rules of Engagement with food combining. I was sick with Asthma, Lung Infections and Candida overgrowth, living at Lake Tahoe, California when I visited an Iridologist named Dr. Carl Pomey. I was on the upswing, really, if you could call it that after a lifetime of struggling with my health. I was an athlete, a ski racer, appearing normal from the outside. Inside

I was suffering. I had a deep chronic wheeze that would get set off by the slightest irritation, induced by Cold Weather, Foods, Exercise and a host of other Allergens.

By the time I was 16, I had learned a lot about Chinese and Ayyurvedic Herbs, mostly by reading books and experimenting on myself. Thanks to my Dad for turning me onto my first book of herbs, The Yoga of Herbs. He always promoted magical healing natural remedies with herbs like ginger and garlic. And thanks to my Mom, for the resources to dive deep into my healing journey. By the time I was 16 years old I had experimented with Nutraceuticals, Ozone Therapy, Colonics, Zapper Technology, B-12 Injections, Meditation and more.

At my appointment with Dr. Pomey, he took a look at my Iridology. After snapping a picture of my eye with his special macro camera, he showed me my organs and which ones needed help.

There was a ring around my iris, in some areas dipping into towards the iris itself. As he told me this he pointed to a distended bowel and possible pockets in my colon where old stuff was trapped. He could also tell by the lateral splits on my tongue that I had some major digestive problems.

I was instructed to chronicle the foods I was eating so he could take a look at our next appointment. Before I left he taught me about proper food combining and provided a few simple rules:

5 Food Combining Rules

1. Eat Starches and Proteins separately.
2. Eat Starches with Vegetables
3. Eat Proteins with Non-Starchy Vegetables
4. Avoid combining anything Sweet with Starches or Proteins
5. Fruit and Melon should be eaten alone

Sky Kubby, 13 years old

Other Healthy Digestion Tips:

1. Wait 3 hours between meals. Wait an hour after eating fruit, preferably your first meal, to eat a meal. Don't eat fruit on top of a meal.
2. Avoid drinking water with meals, especially cold water as it slows digestion and dilutes the enzymes.
3. Sit upright, eat slowly and chew one mouthful thoroughly, before the next is taken.
4. Eat more Whole, Live Raw Foods. They contain the enzymes needed to digest the food.
5. Eat Raw Chocolate Bars away from meals. The sweetener, cacao butter and even the chocolate itself could be binding and inhibit digestion. Raw beans may be consumed and cacao powder, however beware: Raw chocolate may cause sudden lack of appetite!

The rules are different for everyone. It really depends on the person, what and how much they are eating. For example following these rules perfectly could be amazing for someone who is eating a majority of cooked foods, has an imbalance of healthy flora (Dysbiosis), has poor nutrient absorption or is overweight.

Other folks eating more of a raw foods diet may be able to handle some of these food combinations, because of the enzymes present in the raw food, and their systems are clean enough to absorb the food. This enzyme availability is another benefit of raw cacao. You see, it really depend on the what and the how of the combination.

Some overweight people could have great success with just practicing not combining proteins and starches and could even free up a few pounds as this practice could really get things moving along in their bowels. It is reasonable to say that 3-5 extra lbs of undigested colon matter alone could be shed, especially in combination with Colon Cleansing.

I did what I could to follow the plan, writing down everything along the way. I thought I was doing pretty good, after all I was shopping at a Health Food Store...

When I showed up back at his small office I handed him my list and took a seat. Before even looking at my list he said, matter-of-factly, "Well you haven't been following the food combining rules, now have you?" I pleaded with Carl that I had and to just take a look at the list. "Well, I can smell your breath from across the room so I know you've been combining protein with either sugar or starch."

Now there could have been other reasons for my Halitosis, as pockets of decay would form on the back of my tonsils from lesions and bouts of Strep Throat, lack of oral hygiene or my Dysbiosis (Imbalance of Healthy versus Bad Bacteria) caused by Candida overgrowth. Regardless, his words struck a chord and were a wake up call to become more aware of what and when and how I was ingesting food into my body.

There's a bit of controversy on the topic of food combining. It appears some people do better than others. This of course has to do with the fact that everyone is different. Kapha body types who can have long, slow digestion with the ability to put on extra weight, may have more difficulty with certain food combinations. Pittas, on the other hand, who have more digestive fire may burn up everything they eat, possibly getting away with looser combining rules.

Starches and Proteins

It is more difficult for the human body to digest starch and proteins, if eaten together. It is especially true if your constitution is weakened and if you are dealing with a health issue.

Take the classic Steak and Potatoes, just to be clear. Although there's some protein in potatoes, its only about 8% most of the rest is all starch. If eaten together the starch will ferment most likely, and the protein will putrefy (rot). Digestion of starch begins in the mouth as your Amalase enzymes from your saliva begins breaking down starch while you chew. That's why it is SO important to chew your food thoroughly, before swallowing.

Chew your drink and drink your food      -Mahatma Ghandi

The enzyme Ptyalin, a type of Amalase, breaks down starches into Maltose and Dextrose- sugars! Once the steak 'n' taters hits the acidic environment of your stomach the Amalase stops working and the Hydrochloric Acid (HCL) kicks in, activating pepsin and then breaks down proteins. The starches move on into your small intestines, while the protein will sit in your stomach for a few hours, or longer, if it's meat.

Starches require an alkaline environment so getting mixed up with the protein (steak) isn't going to do it much good in the acidic environment of the stomach. Once the starch enters your small intestine then it begins its real digestion. However if there is some protein mixed in, which is likely with the steak 'n 'taters example, then the protein is bound to remain undigested and rot.

Starches and Sugars

As Carl and I went over my list I saw how I was breaking some crucial rules, for example, eating healthy cookies that were fruit juice sweetened. While at the time I thought that was a healthy choice, Carl reminded me that the sugar from the fruit juice and the starch in the cookies were combining and creating fermentation.

While some schools of thoughts on food combining believe that it's the breakdown of beans that cause gas and not the combination of foods, I have to disagree, for me. From that day forward I noticed every time I broke the rule, I had gas.

So, what's wrong with a little gas, you might say? Well, this is the same chemical reaction that makes alcohol. That's why many recovering alcoholics switch to sweets when they get sober. Also, acetaldehyde is created which may cause liver toxicity as well as an overall bad feeling like a hangover. Ever overindulged in sugars and starches and awaken up in the middle of the night a little wobbly as you make your way to the bathroom? That's because you're a little drunk from the sugar and alcohol fermenting.

"Sweet!" you might say. While acting as a home brewery may be enticing to some, it causes a whole other set of problems. For one, the starch-sugar combo creates a feast for opportunistic organisms, such as Candida (a fungus), Yeast and Myco-Bacteria (a fungus/bacteria hybrid). These organisms can spread throughout the body feeding on the starch, sugars and undigested fats in the blood, skin and organs - leading to many of the mystery ailments people experience today.

They can grow roots down into the Lymph and infect the blood. One great product know to eliminate Candida in 3 months, without changing the diet and killing these roots is the Vitae Elixir, a laboratory extracted concentrate of powerful herbs such as Gravel and Bloodroot. The Synergy of the herbs is gentle and very effective in eliminating a lot of these mystery ailments and issues with ailments such as Psoriasis, Lymes and Candida. See the products section at the end of the book.

Proteins and Sugars

While starches and sugars ferment to make gas, proteins and sugars putrefy (rot) to make stinky gas! Enough said.

Second Stomach?

Did you know you had a second stomach.? Before reaching the small intestine there is a second stomach that has a greater concentration of acids and bile. Here some major breakdown can occur.

Food absorption doesn't occur in the small intestine. It waits for the lower intestine where it can be assimilated into the body. This second part of the small intestine is where the lymph nodes are, just behind your belly button.

It's crucial to keep your probiotic balance. If the inner eco-system becomes compromised by antibiotics, GMO foods, artificial foods or gets too acidic, Bacteria, Fungi and Molds can bore down roots here, into your lymph and move to other organs and Systemic Candida overgrowth can occur.

Bottom Line

Do the best you can to keep proteins and starches away from each other. Eat proteins with greens and starches with greens. Eat fruit by itself in the morning. Eat sweets by themselves not in combination with starches or proteins.

Chocolate Chia Colon Cleansing

If you want to lose weight, then besides even moderate attention to food combining, cleansing your colon can be easy, tasty, and highly effective. If your desire is simply optimal health and vitality, follow along with this colon cleansing protocol and you'll feel lighter, healthier and more energized.

Chia Seeds:

A member of the Sage family, Chia is the Mayan word for strength. Chia has easily digestible protein, vitamins, minerals antioxidants, soluble fiber and is high in Omega 3's.

Referred to as Indian Running Food and used by the Inca's and Aztecs, chia is really a superfood of superfoods!.

Chia can build strength, endurance, energy, balance blood sugar and be a great colon cleanser! In The Magic Of Chia, James Sheer tell a story of Paul Bragg, fitness Guru who died at age 95 in a body-surfing accident. Bragg and a group tested Chia by chewing on chia, like the Tarahumara tribes that run hundreds of miles, sometimes on only a couple mouthfuls of Chia. Bragg and his friend climbed to the top of Mt. Wilson, finished 27 minutes earlier than the rest of the group.

By simply replacing one meal a day with a Cacao Elixir or Chocolate-Chia Pudding you could flush out 3-5 pounds of unwanted colon matter your first week! Substitute your first meal with the Chocolate Chia Pudding (See Recipes). Chia is an incredible source of protein, is a natural colon cleanser and is extremely hydrating to your colon. The seeds are hydrophilic, meaning they can absorb up to 12 times their size in water!

While Psyllium husks are great, they can get bound up in the colon. They also can go rancid easily, unlike Chia which has more built-in Antioxidants to protect the oils. Chia seeds, when blended dry and added to water just before ingestion can be just as effective or more at cleansing your colon. Be sure to drink a full glass of water after eating Chia as a colon cleanser if using this method. Hydration is Key to a healthy colon. Although it's generally good to avoid drinking with meals, a little water after a chocolate chia pudding is also advised.

In the morning, follow the Awake and Aware protocol in Chapter Four. You may still eat fruit as the first meal, as long as you are feeling in balance with Candida or any other infection.

Blend your foods for a minimum of 3-4 days, preferably a week. You can eat anything smooth like mashed (blended) potatoes or yoghurt. The idea is to decrease the amount of stress on your digestive system while providing the ideal environment to release toxins. ***Use discretion. This doesn't mean to throw a Big Mac in the Vitamix and call it good. Use the concepts of food combining and be gentle on yourself. See recipes for Banana-Kale Smoothy, Creamy Mashed Cauliflower and Raw Hot Seaweed Soup.

Love Your Liver

One of the best things you can do for your health and longevity is a Liver Flush. After a week or so of Colon Cleansing Protocol you will be ready to flush your liver.

Don't go too heavy with liver cleansing herbs like milk thistle for too long. It's helpful to include Goldenseal along with Shizandra which is more gentle and generally really safe. Shizandra nourishes all 12 meridians, all 5 elements and cleanses and protects all organs. Used during a healthy liver/gallbladder flush it can be really beneficial.

Colonics or Enemas and Bulb Syringes

After a minimum of 3-4 days of eating only blended or soft foods, it's time to prepare for your Liver Flush. In order to get things flowing, it would greatly benefit you to book some sessions with your local Colon Hydrotherapist. You will be so glad you did!

At least get an enema bag or a bulb syringe. You can get an enema bag at your local drugstore or order a large sized one at The Raw Food World. If you've never used an enema bag before don't be afraid! After your first flush you will be feeling so good after having released so much blocked up stuff that any resistance you had will be a thing of the past.

All you do is fill up the bag with pure warm water and screw the cap on. Hang up the enema bag by its hook on a nail, lay a towel down on the floor. Lay on your back or side, put a little coconut or olive oil on the tip and push it a little ways inside your rectum, just past your sphincter and release the flow.

Just breath slowly as the fluid enters you. You'll see the bag get smaller and begin to feel full. Sometime you may hit a gas bubble. Just breath and the feeling should pass as the water makes its way further up inside your colon. I've found by jiggling the lower right side of the ascending colon, between your right hip bone and your belly button, it can allow more water to make it up there more easily. My Colon Hydrotherapist, Susan calls this The Washing Machine as you can hear the fluid squish around while you push and down on the sweet spot.

You can use cold water, but it will be a strange sensation for the first time. However the benefit is that the cold shocks parasites into dislodging themselves and it is more likely that you will pass a roundworm or tapeworm. Please don't be in denial about the fact that we all have parasites. Be empowered by the idea of regaining sovereignty over them and taking our bodies back! More on parasite Cleansing later.

A bulb syringe is like an oversized tennis ball with a plastic tip. It is quick and effective at removing any blockages. If you are constipated and you squirt a bulb syringe or two worth of water up there, just like an enema, you should experience immediate relief. Most headaches and many other ailments are linked to a stuck or dehydrated colon.

One of these little bulb syringes also comes in handy at the end of the colon cleanse to Re-Colonize with healthy gut bacteria. This can be as simple as getting your favorite probiotic and opening the capsule in a bowl of water, stirring around and sucking up the fluid with the bulb syringe to implant and reset your bioter-rain with healthy intestinal flora. Primal Defense is a great product for this purpose.

Olive Oil & Lemon Liver & Gallbladder Flush

This cleanse, if done correctly should leave you feeling like a million bucks! Upon its completion you will flush 20 to 100 gallstones ranging from pinky nail to the size of a quarter.

Your gallbladder stores and concentrated bile from the liver to secrete into the small intestine to help with digestion of fats. Stored bile in combination with excess cholesterol can lead to the formation of gallstones. The gallstones build up and fill your gallbladder, possibly obstructing the duct as they grow in size. However, if kept cleansed there is no need for surgical removal of a highly functional organ.

By following this simple maintenance procedure, recommended to do at least once a year, you can probably save yourself expensive and invasive surgery and the removal of your gallbladder later on in life.

Directions For Liver/Gallbladder Flush:

Once you have been consuming liquid or blended only meals for at least a few days, minimum, and have been doing regular enemas or Colon Hydrotherapy, you are ready for a liver/Gallbladder flush.

The Colon cleansing you did earlier in this chapter will have prepared your colon to dump toxins. This is crucial to the success of a gallbladder flush. Although it is possible to do a flush relying solely on laxatives to keep you from reabsorbing the toxins you are dumping, it is not recommended.

This is really important to the success of your cleanse. You want to get that icky stuff out of you ASAP! Anything you can do to speed along the process your body will thank you for it ... and you will feel better through the process!

- The night before your cleanse fast from ANY fat. For the days leading up to when you are planning a Gallbladder flush, completely fast from eating Chocolate, or any other high-fat food, including nuts, oils and dairy.
- If you are coming directly off your colon cleanse and have been taking Chia Seeds, Bentonite Clay and/or Psyllium stop the day of the cleanse.
- Drink a full Gallon of water before 2-3 PM
- You may choose to fast the day of the flush, to maximize the detox, perhaps on water or coconut water. You may have an Elixir from the Elixir Bar. See chapter 5. Just be careful to not include any oils.
- For Lunch Eat Blended Steamed or Raw Veggies, Sweet or Red Potatoes or just continue with Veggie Juice... You can blend fruit, but at this point in the cleanse you may choose to stop fruit so as not to experience gas during Colonics. It's your choice, but beware of gas if you don't adhere to strict food combining principles outlined earlier in this chapter. You are cleansing, be sensitive to your system.
- After 2-3PM don't eat or drink anything for the rest of the day. If you aren't accustomed to cleansing, then you must prepare yourself psychologically for this moment and deal with it. This is your time to cleanse. embrace it!

Sweat It Out!

Detoxifying through the skin is one of the most efficient ways to cleanse the body.

- Between 5-6 PM drink 1 Tablespoon of Epsom Salts dissolved in 3/4 cup warm water. Dip your finger in some raw honey for a little treat and to get rid of the taste. This will act as a laxative to open up your Gallbladder ducts to release the gallstones.
- Between 7-8PM- repeat this 1 Tablespoon Epsom Salts and Honey Lick. Prepare another cup and set next to your bed to prepare for bedtime.
- Blend 1/2 cup Organic First-Cold-Pressed Olive Oil and 1/2 cup of Juice (no seeds) from a Large Grapefruit or citrus blend of Grapefruit, Lemon and you may even throw in an Orange to make this Elixir even more fun!

- Visit the bathroom as much as possible before bed. Massage your colon from, bottom, closest to your right leg, up around under the ribcage where your liver is, under your left ribcage and down closest to your left leg. also push directly under belly button towards your sacrum.
- 10PM or just before bed: Drink your Olive Oil/Citrus Blend.
- Some people like to take something to help them sleep through the night. Others choose to remain aware through this powerful cleansing time. If it is your first time you might want to take a melatonin, or L=Ornithine capsule to help you sleep.

- Immediately lie down on your right side, the side of your Liver. Just rest there for at least 30 min. This is a good time to send positive healing thoughts to your liver.

- At 3:00 AM, or whenever you wake up in the middle of the night past 3:00AM, drink your last dose of Epsom Salts you have by your bed.
- At this point, whenever you arise in the morning you should try and use the bathroom first thing. Then you may drink some tea or other liquid and perhaps eat a light meal to celebrate.
- Don't be concerned if you do not flush your Gallbladder stones at first bowel movement. Over the course of your next few movements you should see, and feel, the stones release. It is a painless process. The duct should be open and lubricated by the olive oil. You will kind of feel them just squish out.
- As the toxins dump you may feel a release of the toxins stored there. For me the first gallbladder flush was extremely psychedelic, probably releasing from my younger years.
- Afterwards you should feel great!

*Variation: Instead of Epsom Salts you can take a laxative like Senna Leaf Tea, upon rising to make sure you keep the toxins flowing out of you.

Congratulations!!! you just did one of the best things you can do for your body! This next cleanse is simpler and more fun: The Watermelon/Cucumber Kidney Flush!
